

FOUR FEDERAL GARRISONS CAPITULATE TO REBELS.

Pacific Port Mazatlan Surrenders to Flores; Important Oil Town, Tampico, Falls to Obregonistas.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE.)

AGUA PRIETA (Son.) May 10.—Gen. Ramon F. Flores and 1700 Federal troops surrendered to Gen. Flores today, turning over the garrison and all equipment, at Mazatlan today, according to announcement made at military headquarters here this afternoon.

HOUSTON, May 10.—Tampico, important oil town on the Gulf of Mexico, capitulated to forces of Gen. Obregon yesterday, according to radio advices received by local oil interests here early this morning. The advices said the town went over to the revolutionary forces without serious disorder.

The advices stated that revolutionary troops entered the customhouse Sunday at 4:30 o'clock. The military commander escaped on the government steamer Jalisco with him and records, it was said. "The city is quiet this morning and is well policed by the military authorities," the message, which was filed Sunday, declared. Foreigners were unharmed, according to the message, and operations in the big oil fields around Tampico were said to be proceeding unimpeded.

EVACUATE MONTEREY.

BROWNVILLE (Tex.) May 10.—Evacuation of Monterey, capital of the State of Nuevo Leon, by Carranza forces, was reported in unofficial dispatches here today. Gov. De los Santos was said to be en route to Matamoros, opposite Brownsville, where the State government will be established, the report declared. Mexican revolutionary headquarters opened here today issued a statement saying Gen. Alvarado would reach Brownsville in two or three days to direct rebel activities on the East Mexican Coast.

MALLEN (Tex.) May 10.—The Carranza garrison at Reynosa, State of Tamaulipas, and across the border from Hidalgo, Tex., has revolted and joined the revolutionists, according to unofficial advices received here.

NEW LARDO QUIET.

LARDO (Tex.) May 10.—Nuevo Laredo today was quiet under control of revolutionary forces, who, after a brief battle with the Federal defenders yesterday, took full possession. Gen. Reynaldo Garza, commander of the Nuevo Laredo military district in the Carranza government, was said to have fled following an exciting flight from Nuevo Laredo in which his automobile was struck by 150 bullets. Business opened as usual with the exception of saloons, which were ordered closed until further notice by the revolutionary council formed immediately following yesterday's battle in which seven rebel and Federal soldiers were killed and seven others wounded. The council is headed by Maj. Jorge Borquez, former from Chihuahua, city.

A MISUNDERSTANDING.

JOAREZ (Mex.) May 10.—The recent battle at Chihuahua, city, in which twenty-seven men were killed and seventeen wounded, came about through a misunderstanding by Francisco Plutarco, who thought himself an Obregon sympathizer, ordered his battalion to give battle to other units, which later proved to be on the same side, according to the council.

EMERGES :: REBEL :: VICTOR. Rides Into Capital as Carranza Flees.

Gen. Alvaro Obregon.

The victorious chieftain, whose star now seems definitely on the ascendency, sent the above picture to a Los Angeles friend less than three weeks ago. It is the very latest photograph of the famous Mexican general, taken just before this last campaign which has placed him virtually at the head of the great republic of the south.

LODGE KEYNOTER OF REPUBLICANS

Chosen to Wield Gavel as Temporary Chairman.

Beveridge Talked of to Permanently Preside.

Borah's Name Not Mentioned for that Position.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

CHICAGO, May 10.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, Republican Senate leader and author of the Lodge reservations to the League of Nations covenant, will sound the keynote of the Presidential campaign at the Republican national convention in Chicago, June 4.

The committee on arrangements today selected Senator Lodge as temporary chairman and voted to recommend to the convention, some one else to be chosen permanent chairman. Four years ago, Senator W. G. Harding of Ohio, filled both positions.

The committee's recommendation, according to several committeemen, probably will pave the way for selection of former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana as permanent chairman.

The name of Senator Borah, candidate of the supporters of Senator Johnson, for permanent chairman, was not mentioned during the discussion, according to Fred Upham, national treasurer.

Chairman Will H. Hays, of the national committee, reported on conferences held last week with Senate leaders at Washington, where Senator Lodge's selection was urged by Senators Knox, Brandegee and others.

"KEYNOTE" ON LEAGUE. Party leaders said the League of Nations fight undoubtedly would be touched by Senator Lodge, and that a plank endorsing the Peace Treaty and the League covenant with the reservations voted by the Republican majority in Congress would be in the platform.

L. B. Gleason, secretary of the last two Republican conventions, was again chosen temporary secretary. Six assistants, three men and three women, also were named. They are Mrs. Guy Gannett of Maine; Miss Jeanette A. Hyatt of Utah; Mrs. Chas. Adair Morgan of Kansas; R. J. Beamish of Pennsylvania; Harry Givens of Kentucky; and Fred Wilson of Missouri.

Edward P. Thayer of Indiana, sergeant-at-arms of the national committee, was appointed temporary sergeant-at-arms. Maj.-Gen. James A. Ryan of Chicago was named chief doorkeeper. His assistants will all be former service men. Gen. Ryan was Gen. Pershing's chief-of-staff on the Mexican expedition. Others also will be overseas soldiers, under the direction of Capt. Knowlton Ames.

The National Executive Committee met today in its regular monthly session. It was decided to postpone hearing of seat contests to May 11.

Herbert Hoover's suggestion that the United States seek an agreement with the League of Nations, with proper limitations, had the unqualified support of the Republican party, he said.

LANDER (Wyo.) May 10.—Six uninstructed delegates-at-large to the Democratic National Convention were chosen by the Democratic State Convention here today. Every mention of President Wilson's name was greeted with applause.

MEMORY LAPSE WRECK CAUSE?

Believe Engineer's Amnesia Responsible for Tragedy.

Ran Past Switch After Acknowledging Signal.

Funerals for Espee Train Collision Victims Today.

(RECEIVE DISPATCH.)

PORTLAND, May 10.—Momentary lapse of memory on the part of Elias K. Willett, engineer of Southern Pacific Train 124 is believed to have been the cause of the head-on collision of two electric passenger trains in which eight people were killed near Portland yesterday.

In his investigation of the tragedy today, A. T. Merlier, superintendent of the Southern Pacific, learned that Conductor Alvin Pharis, assigned the engineer to take the siding, where their train was to meet the McMillinville passenger. Willett answered the signal with two blasts, but instead of slowing down, speeded on toward the death curve.

"Then I knew that something must be wrong," said Pharis. "I rushed forward, but before I could reach the front vestibule the crash came."

Willett lost his life and Pharis was injured, his leg broken today being made from his hospital car. Investigation today also disclosed that Pharis failed to apply the emergency air brake when he found his train speeding by the switch.

It is a railroad rule that a conductor must know that the other train is at the meeting point before he permits his train to pass by. Southern Pacific officials said that Pharis admitted he did not apply the air. His signed statement was procured for use in the coroner's inquest that is to be held tomorrow night.

Although Willett told Conductor Pharis that he was not feeling well, investigators scout the theory that the engineer might have collapsed at his post. The emergency control, or what is known as dead man's control, was found to be in perfect order and had Willett taken his hand from the controller, the emergency brake would have been applied instantly.

The Southern Pacific board of inquiry will convene tomorrow morning and its hearings will be public. Depositions from the surviving trainmen and passengers will be read. Nearly thirty victims of the tragedy still remain in Portland hospitals, but there have been no more fatalities. Tonight it was reported that Miss Camille Dosh, society editor of the Oregonian, had taken a turn for the worse and it is believed she will die. She recovered consciousness earlier today, but was not told of the death of her little nephew, Pleurot Joseph, who was seated in the car with her and who was Miss Dosh's ward. Charles R. Smith, whose death was expected yesterday, will probably recover, physicians say.

Funerals for all the victims will be held tomorrow. There will be one double funeral, that of Mrs. C. R. Arundel and her little son, who will be buried together.

PROSPECTOR MISSING;
FORTUNE AWAITS HIM.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

PRINCE RUPERT, May 10.—"Baldy" Salinas, well-known prospector, who after many weary months of search discovered the valuable silver property of the Spanish group at Alice Arm, has disappeared.

Salinas is a Spaniard, young, short and swarthy. Long before Alice Arm blossomed forth as a boom silver camp, his unbounded faith in the district kept him prospecting through the hills. Finally, he struck a rich vein.

The owner of this property has been missing for weeks. He was derided away after a prolonged illness from influenza. Stacked in sacks at the Spanish Group is enough silver ore to yield a modest fortune.

It should not be forgotten that the Cuban government and the Cuban planters are on record as having twice spontaneously offered to sell the present crop to the United States sugar equalization board at 6.10 cents per pound.

That later developments have positively shown would have been ruinous to her in the face of daily skyrocketing of the price on all the articles she is obliged to buy, principally of the United States, to feed and clothe the people.

SAN FRANCISCO COUNT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 10.—Official returns for San Francisco county in the California Presidential primary election last Tuesday showed today the highest Johnson delegate to the Republican National Convention received 69,958 votes that the lowest Johnson delegate 69,454, compared with 25,146 for the highest Hoover delegate.

Revised returns for the State, including complete returns from all but eight counties, gave the highest Johnson delegate, 371,546, and the highest Hoover delegate, 219,441.

Returns were still to be received tonight from the following counties: Humboldt, seven precincts missing; Madera, two; Mariposa, one; Mendocino, four; Mono, three; San Diego, 218; Trinity, five; Tulare, 2, and Ventura, five.

Following the keynote speech in which the League of Nations and Mexican policy of the national administration were condemned, the Republican State convention today adjourned until tomorrow.

Merle D. Vincent of Grand Junction, Colo., who delivered the keynote address, said "there was a time, and only recently, under a Republican President, when his mere word of demand or command had more influence in Mexico, to protect the lives of American citizens and their property than an army and a fleet under the present administration."

Discussing the war he declared: "We were not reluctant to enter it. Laying aside partisanship, the Republican party gave to the administration its confidence and support. Denied the right to participate in its direction, we nevertheless furnished some of the chief pillars of its support."

A League of Nations, with proper limitations, had the unqualified support of the Republican party, he said.

COLORADO WHEAT FAR BELOW NORMAL MARK.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

DENVER, May 10.—Only about $61,000 acres of winter wheat will be harvested in Colorado this year, compared with 1,064,000 last year, according to estimates of the Colorado co-operative crop reporting service, announced today.

Indications are that about 12 percent of the acreage planted last year, or 117,000 acres, has been abandoned. The condition of winter wheat was only 31 percent of that planted the preceding year.

The condition of winter wheat on May 1 was estimated at 55 percent of normal, compared with 75 percent on April 1, and 100 percent on May 1 last year.

DANIELS'S REPLY

REBUKES SIMS.

Reviews Entire Naval Investigation in Answer.

Admiral's Pro-British Tendencies Criticized.

Claims American Navy Vindicated in Testimony.

developed during the investigation, he would not have been a life commission as a full admiral.

Referring to the Sims charge that delay by the Navy Department prolonged the war four months and cost $60,000 lives, Mr. Daniels declared he had talked with many British admirals and not one would subscribe to the charge.

Admiral Sims, former Chief of Naval Operations, was anti-British was unfounded and unjust, the witness said.

SAYS SIMS SELF-INJURED.
 The country would never forgive Admiral Sims for violating a confidence; making public what he himself had termed "an explicit admonition," Secretary Daniels asserted.

"The evidence has had but one effect, and that has been a feeling of regret and self-criticism," said Mr. Daniels. "The only man injured in public esteem by his charges reflecting upon his brother officers and attempting to hold their self-sacrifice and successful efforts up to condemnation, is Admiral Sims himself."

Recalling that in December, 1917, Admiral Sims cabled the Navy Department in response to an inquiry that he "strongly" requested the effort to create an impression that our naval forces abroad have been hampered by the failure of the department to comply with my recommendations," Secretary Daniels said the admiral by this message, had propounded a "new doctrine" that it was justifiable to deceive his superiors and the people at large.

Admiral Sims's criticism, that he was not given an adequate staff was entirely unwarranted, Mr. Daniels declared. The Secretary told the committee that he declined to grant Admiral Sims's request to commission young Americans living in London because he did not want the naval reserve to become "an open door to favored youths who wished commissions and a refuge for the youths who clamored to secure abroad in clerical or other shore duties."

WILSON WANTED CONVOY.
 The naval Secretary testified that in giving Admiral Sims his final instructions he told the officer that President Wilson "could not understand why the British did not convoy their ships through the danger zone."

"I added that I had informed the President that there was a difference of opinion among naval officers as to the convoy system," Mr. Daniels continued. "But told him that the President was decidedly of the opinion that the ships should be convoyed."

Admiral Sims's title of "commander of naval forces in European waters," was misleading, Mr. Daniels declared, because he actually commanded no ships.

"As all our ships in British waters were operated by British officers," he continued, "he was subordinate of naval operations under Admiral Benson rather than commander of forces abroad."

CLAIMS NAVY VINDICATED.
 So far as his own acts were concerned, Secretary Daniels said he would be willing to let the case rest. The judgment and ability of the eleven other members of the under public criticism by one of general board had been brought their own number, however, he said, and these officers looked to the civilian Secretary to defend them.

"There are twelve of these high ranking officers charged with great responsibility," said Secretary Daniels. "You have heard eleven. One is the author of these criticisms. The twelfth, Admiral Gleaves, who was in charge of the troop ships that carried our soldiers to France, is commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet, and I do not feel justified in ordering him from his distant station to testify."

In considering the criticisms of one of the eleven officers referred to, I think it surprising and gratifying that the verdict of these officers is ten to one in the correctness of what we did. Had there been during the war, a serious difference of opinion among those charged with determining our military action, as to what should be done, it would, of course, have been my duty to have decided between them. I have been fortunate that no such condition arose.

"What I feel is needed from me is not a defense, but a clear and brief exposure of what has already been testified to. You have heard long statements of what the Navy did not do. The country's pride will be heightened by the facts of some of the great things it did do."

BREACH OF CONFIDENCE.
 The portion of Admiral Sims's celebrated letter that shocked the public more than any other, Mr. Daniels said, was the statement that he had been told at the Navy Department "not to let the British pull the wool over your eyes. We would as soon fight them as the Germans."

"I must confess that it shocked me," declared the Secretary. "For in all my years of association with officers of the Navy, this was the first time I had ever known one to make public any confidential conversation with a superior officer. I did not believe it was possible for an officer of the Navy to do such a thing. The people could not understand how any patriotic American who put the good of his country first, could possibly spread broadcast a statement which reflected upon his own government and might tend to disturb the cordial relations with a friendly power, and violate the confidence reposed in him and published a statement which he evidently believed would damage a fellow-officer and cast doubt upon the Navy's wholehearted espousal of the Allied cause."

Secretary Daniels assailed the manner in which the letter was made public, declaring that Admiral Sims read it during the investigation of naval awards, although it had nothing to do with the subject under consideration.

"He could not have chosen a more ostentatious and well-planned manner of securing publicity," said Mr. Daniels. "If, as he said, he had written it only for naval officers, nothing would have been easier than for him to have told Chairman Hale that he had written a letter to Secretary Daniels bearing on a totally different subject, for naval uses only."

"But he had it in his pocket, evidently awaiting the opportunity which the hearing afforded him, to give his charges the widest possible publicity."

WAS PRO-BRITISH.
 Had anyone in authority in the Navy Department entertained a prejudice against England, Secretary Daniels said, Admiral Sims would not have been sent to London, for Sims's pro-British "idiosyncrasies" were well known.

"In justice to the United States Navy, it will be necessary to contrast the bold and audacious policies we presented and urged, in non-combatant way, as to be great projects caused by Admiral Sims's opposition and lack of faith in the practicability of some of them by the British Admiralty," declared Secretary Daniels. "This is not done in any spirit of criticism of the British navy. The navy of that nation did a great work. It did great tasks in so great a way as to be worthy of the appreciation of the whole world. They made mistakes, and so did the American Navy."

"You have heard many great admirals of the American Navy who were admitted to the attack upon the work of the Navy during the war were either wholly unwarranted or grossly exaggerated. If you appear before you similarly the great admirals of the British navy you would not find one of regret that the American Navy was responsible for the prolongation of the war four months and the unnecessary loss of 60,000 lives."

DEFENDS NAVAL OFFICER.
 Secretary Daniels defended vigorously the administration of the office of chief of naval operations by Admiral Benson.

Before Admiral Sims left for London, Mr. Daniels said, he reminded him of his "blood is thicker than water" speech at the Guildhall in London, and told him that former Secretary Meyer and President Taft were right in reprimanding him. Mr. Daniels said he told Sims he had been chosen to London "not because of that speech, but in spite of it."

"Admiral Sims regarded as an 'explicit admonition' as he said in his letter of January 7 the 'don't let the British pull the wool over your eyes' caution," Secretary Daniels declared he convicted himself of violating three sections of naval regulations by making it public.

"Later," said the Secretary, "Admiral Sims said that he considered the alleged statement only a 'peculiar idiosyncrasy' of Admiral Benson's."

AMERICANS IN PARIS

SURPRISED OVER VOTE.

RELIEF WAS STRONG THAT FORMER FOOD CHIEF WOULD BE MORE POPULAR.

(BY CABLE-EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH) PARIS, May 8 (Delayed).—There is keen interest in the Presidential race among Americans here and general surprise is expressed that Hoover has not made a better showing in the primaries.

The California result was especially disappointing to Hoover supporters, who include a majority of visiting Americans, and nearly all those who have been serving here and were thus brought into contact with Hoover and his work as food administrator.

The Democrats generally express regret at his apparent spurning the Democratic nomination, for which they think his chances would have been better.

There is a story in Paris that Hoover may not be altogether serious about not accepting this nomination, and that he is being given of an alleged movement, fostered by Col. House, to have Hoover named at San Francisco.

Next to Hoover, Ambassador Davis seems to be favored by Americans in Europe for the Democratic nomination. It is said Davis is receiving many telegrams from America, urging him to resign and come home to enter the race. His friends say the Ambassador has not the slightest idea of doing such a thing.

The reported opinion in some quarters in America that Hoover is pro-British is declared here to be directly contrary to fact. In the early days of his services as head of the British commission, he antagonized London officialdom deeply by his direct ways. Afterward the British were anxious to have him remain in England, not for love of him personally, but because they are keen on efficiency.

That he is respected and admired for his efficiency in Great Britain, and that the English would have been glad to put such a man in their public service, is unquestionable. But he is equally admired in other European countries.

TESTIFIES SENATE QUIZ.

Testifies to Mexican Development.

Comptroller General Says Policy Shameful.

Investigation for Economic Control by America.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, comptroller general of the United States, testified before the Senate committee on Mexican development today before the committee investigating the economic control of Mexico by America.

Roosevelt testified that the United States had never attempted to control Mexico by force, but that it had attempted to control Mexico by economic means.

"Mexico, of course, has first claim on her own resources," the former comptroller said, adding that, "no protest has ever been made, so far as I know, to any regulation imposed on the exploitation of oil on her public domain."

Mr. Roosevelt said there was tremendous need for fuel oil in the United States, and that shortages already were being felt.

"We have got to get an outside supply of oil for development of the United States," he said, remarking that England had been remarkably foresighted and forehanded in oil development all over the world.

Chairman Felt, citing English oil operations in Asia Minor, asked Mr. Roosevelt if he thought that was a menace.

"Not if Americans develop oil lying around the borders of the Caribbean Sea, as the English are developing around the south and of the Mediterranean Sea," was the response.

"Mexican commercial and official life was sustained with graft, from the lowest tally clerk to the highest cabinet officer," Mr. Chamberlain said, and only a policy of economic operating on lands purchased from private Mexican owners with rights to drill for oil incorporated in the deed. He denied statements made before the committee recently by John Lind, once President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico, that Carranza's attempt to transfer the ownership of Mexican oil deposits into the hands of the Mexican government "corresponded with similar procedure of the United States in installing oil leasing laws on the American public domain."

MEXICO HAS FIRST CLAIM.

The United States has never attempted to confiscate oil on privately owned lands," Mr. Roosevelt said, adding that, "no protest has ever been made, so far as I know, to any regulation imposed on the exploitation of oil on her public domain."

Mr. Roosevelt said there was tremendous need for fuel oil in the United States, and that shortages already were being felt.

"We have got to get an outside supply of oil for development of the United States," he said, remarking that England had been remarkably foresighted and forehanded in oil development all over the world.

Chairman Felt, citing English oil operations in Asia Minor, asked Mr. Roosevelt if he thought that was a menace.

"Not if Americans develop oil lying around the borders of the Caribbean Sea, as the English are developing around the south and of the Mediterranean Sea," was the response.

"Mexican commercial and official life was sustained with graft, from the lowest tally clerk to the highest cabinet officer," Mr. Chamberlain said, and only a policy of economic control of the country by the United States would re-establish stability.

SERVICE PURPOSELESS.

Referring to his resignation, Chamberlain asserted, "a self-respecting man could not continue to take the money of the United States for hopeless, purposeless service after he knew the things I was forced to learn."

The President, he said, "cut the ground out from under the feet of every diplomatic and commercial agent of the United States in Mexico by repeated statements that force would never be used in the country."

"The greatest danger now," he added, "is that the United States will be led to treat in some fashion with a new head of affairs in Mexico, before we are really decided to deal with the evil. The first step in proper policy is that embarked upon by the Senate, in refusing to confirm another Ambassador to that country."

"We ought to follow that up," he said, "because it has not been able to borrow a cent, is in a sound financial situation internationally. It is the most wealthy country in natural resources I have visited, which makes the tragedy of its last 100 years under self-determination more glaring. We should offer a loan sufficient to put its finances in shape, bound up with a treaty which would give us direct supervision of its economic affairs."

"The second step should be to withdraw the present recognition unless that was accepted. Still failing acceptance, the third step should be embargo; the fourth, commercial blockade; the fifth, a naval demonstration. Lastly, a military occupation."

"Events are moving there fast now, but the essential difficulties will remain under any Mexican administration."

Mr. Chamberlain said President Wilson's "assertion that bigger interests favored intervention was particularly shameful."

"It was the American small farmer and business man who suffered always," he added. "The big corporation paid the graft. They could pay the graft, the others had to live."

F. R. Kellogg, attorney for the Pan-American Oil Corporation, analyzed before the committee Mexican and Spanish laws concerning mineral rights. He showed, he said, that ownership of the surface always carried with it ownership of the coal and oil underground.

"I have only gone to this length," said Mr. Kellogg, "because Mr. Lind has disseminated a statement which is likely to cause most serious harm to all Americans who have been struggling for years to maintain rights which they established years ago upon the invitation of the governments concerned."

"Carranza has granted several purportedly 'drilling concessions' to various persons within the last eight months under which part of the oil owned by Carranza is being confiscated without compensation to its owners."

CAMPAIGN FUNDS PASS IN REVIEW

Senate Votes to Speed up
Action on Resolution.

Millionaire Backers of Candidates Mentioned.

McAdoo Named as Having a Lot of Rich Friends.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The Senate voted today to speed up action on Senator Borah's resolution to investigate campaign expenditures, and it is expected the measure will be considered within a day or two.

The accelerator was applied to the resolution after some sharp debate, in which Senator Borah charged that profiteers and multimillionaires were seeking to control both conventions through the use of money.

Senator Walsh of Montana called attention to reports that T. Coleman Dupont, chairman of a committee which "it is expected will raise a fund of $10,000,000 to elect a Republican President."

WANTS BORAH TO KNOW.

Senator Thomas, replying, said he hoped Senator Walsh would call this remarkable piece of news to the attention of Senator Borah.

"I may say that this is a situation which I anticipated when I prepared and introduced a pending amendment to the anti-dumping bill, intending to impose an income tax of 50 per cent. on contributions over $1000," said Senator Thomas.

"If the Senate will enact that provision we may be able to get a respectable revenue through it."

Senator Smoot defended the Republican party. "It is inconceivable," he said, "that Senator Walsh or any other Senator should think there is truth in such newspaper reports as that read," said Senator Smoot. "I do not believe even the Democratic party can collect that amount for the coming campaign with all their power to enforce contributions, which no doubt they will exercise."

Senator Thomas observed that he would be surprised if the Democrats were able to raise $10,000,000. Referring again to the report of $10,000,000 to be raised, he said: "I hope this is not true. That sum in these days does not appeal to Senators of the experience of Senator Smoot and myself as very great. It is merely chicken feed and compared to the extravagance of the country it is not surprising. I may be overcredulous, but I think there is something behind it. I hope that Senator Borah will direct his investigation toward it."

COMPARES MILLIONAIRES.

Senator Smoot suggested that Senator Borah also take cognizance of the fact that several millionaires "are every action now directing the campaign of Democratic aspirants for the Presidency, and I wish to say," he continued, "that as between the millionaires mentioned in the article referred to, and those of New York having the campaign of Mr. McAdoo in hand, give me the New York millionaires for raising money, because I think Barney Harchuk and Tom Chas. can raise $10 when any of the others mentioned can raise one."

Senator Thomas said he did not care whether the enormous amount were raised for Democratic or Republican candidates. It is wrong, he said, "and we should impose an income tax on the men who spend those prodigious sums to corrupt the nation."

GOVERNOR TURNS DOWN SUFFRAGISTS' REQUEST.

CONNECTICUT EXECUTIVE RE-FUSES TO CALL SPECIAL LEGISLATURE.

HARTFORD (Ct.) May 10.—Gov. Marcus Holcomb, replying to the request made by the "flying squadron" of suffragists, representing the forty-eight States, again has declined to call a special session of the Connecticut Legislature to act on the woman suffrage amendment.

His decision was given in a letter to Miss Katherine Ludington, president of the Connecticut Woman's Suffrage Association, made public tonight.

Gov. Holcomb's letter said: "The claim made and urged that there should be such a special session because the special sessions were called to enable our soldier electors to vote at the Mexican border and in the late war, has no force. The distinction is clear; our soldier electors were called from the State by the national government."

"The special emergency was that except for a special session, they would have been deprived of exercising the electoral right they possessed, whereas, in the present case a special session is sought, with the hope that thereby women will acquire electoral privileges they do not now possess."

"My conception of the constitutional limitation of the authority of the Governor compels me to decline to call a special session as you request."

Four times previously the Governor has refused to summon the Legislature to consider the Federal suffrage amendment, one occasion being after the Republican State Convention had passed a resolution calling on Gov. Hinchcomb, a Republican, to take action, so that Connecticut might be the thirty-sixth State to ratify the Federal amendment.

OREGONIANS INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH.

ELY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.

EUGENE (Or.) May 10.—Mrs. Grace von Bookirk of Cottage Grove was seriously hurt and Mrs. E. R. Spencer, wife of one of Lane county's commissioners, was severely bruised when an automobile driven by a man who is one of Lane county's commissioners, was driven by Mrs. Spencer on the highway near Walker Station.

Both cars were demolished. A. M. Strang, Tom Parson and Ed Thane were the names given by the three men and their address is Taft, Cal.

PEACE PACT IS SIGNED BY REDS AND GEORGIA.

IST CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.

LONDON, May 10.—A peace treaty has been concluded between Soviet Russia and the republic of Georgia, according to a wireless message from Moscow. The treaty provides that Georgia shall comprise the following territory: The Tiflis, Kutais and Batumi governments and also the districts of Sukhumi and Sukhum and a portion of the Black Sea government.

Georgia is to disarm all persons hostile to the Soviet government and intern them in concentration camps to be handed over to Soviet Russia, whose government undertakes to spare their lives. All their valuables will be confiscated.

Georgia undertakes to relieve from punishment all those under prosecution for acts committed in favor of Soviet Russia.

PERMANENT MERCHANT MARINE IS PROVIDED.

SENATE ADOPTS HOUSE BILL
AMENDMENTS VIRTUALLY WITHOUT ANY DEBATE.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Without a record vote and virtually without debate, the Senate tentatively adopted today committee amendments to the House bill providing for a permanent merchant marine policy.

Among amendments adopted were those providing for a private ownership policy, but authorizing the permanent Shipping Board, which the bill creates, to sell the merchant fleet built by the government during the war "as soon as practicable, consistent with good business methods and the objects and purposes to be attained by this act."

Another would authorize the board to set aside annually during the next five years, $50,000,000 derived from the sale or operation of vessels, to be used in constructing new vessels.

Senator Nelson, Republican, Minnesota, criticized the proposal to extend to the Philippine Islands provisions regulating coastwise trade.

"Such provisions," he said, would put the people of those islands "in a straight jacket" and would mean that none of their products would be brought to this country, except in American ships.

SHIP INJUNCTION PERMANENT.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—The Shipping Board, under a decree signed today in the District Supreme Court, is perpetually enjoined from selling the twenty-nine former German liners seized when the United States entered the war. Today's decree resulted from a suit for an injunction.

USE LESS NEWSPRINT. URGES MANUFACTURER

SENATE COMMITTEE WITNESS SAYS GOVERNMENT PARTLY CAUSE OF FAMINE.

WASHINGTON, May 10.—Undue governmental influence with the paper manufacturing industry is responsible in part for the present paper shortage, C. W. Lyman, vice-president of the International Paper Company, testified today before a Senate investigating committee.

He recommended immediate curbing of consumption by newspapers, declaring it would be two years before production would equal demand.

Mr. Lyman said his company would increase prices July 1, but he could not say what the advance would be.

Questioned by Chairman Reed, he said that by governmental interference he meant repeated investigations of the paper-making industry by the government and the action of Congress in removing the protective tariff on paper. These things, he testified, had caused a number of manufacturers to turn to other lines.

Although it controls about 5,000,000 acres of pulp timber land in Canada, the International Paper Company cannot utilize all of the timber, Mr. Lyman said, because it has no mills in Canada and is prohibited from sending outside of the Dominion lumber taken from crown lands, forcing the company into the open market for wood pulp.

LLOYD, MILLIONAIRE SOCIALIST, ON TRIAL.

ONE OF COMMUNIST CROWD CHARGED WITH PLOT TO WRECK GOVERNMENT.

CHICAGO, May 10.—William Brock Lloyd, wizened and wrinkled millionaire Socialist, arose in Judge Hebbel's court today, facing a plea of George Washington, draped with the American flag and pleaded not guilty to the charge that he and twenty-five other Communists plotted the overthrow of the American government. Each of the defendants entered a similar plea.

The trial promises to be long and sensational. Clarence Darrow endeavored to secure a continuance because he is counsel for Big Tim Murphy, awaiting trial for alleged participation in the murder of "Boss" Enright, but after a heated dispute, the judge ordered the trial to proceed.

The Communists have gathered a formidable array of legal talent, leading to the irrelevant remark in court that after the trial is over regardless of the outcome, there will be fewer millionaire Socialists and quite a number of lawyers who will have to pay greatly increased income taxes.

It is understood the government is fortified with three important witnesses, in addition to a large load of very literature, records made by detectives of inflammatory meetings and stenographic records of secret conferences.

Radicals from all parts of the country are thronging the courtroom, claiming they are here to see that their comrades "get justice" and every movement of the State will be in the hands of radical publications and pamphlets distributed in this country and Europe. Attorneys say the trial will continue at least three months.

The cry has already been raised that the prosecution has spies working in the camp of the defense. Ole Hansen, former Mayor of Seattle, will be one of the witnesses for the State. Three defendants who were formerly in the State will be granted separate trials.

The Times

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 11, 1920.—PART II: 12 PAGES.

POPULATION: By the Federal Census (1910)—219,121 By the City Directory (1920)—212,121

THIRONGS HIT BY CAR REROUTING.

Considerable Packing on Few Broadway Coaches, Crush on Crosstown Lines and Bedlam Confusion in General Steal Time and Imperil Lives.

The city board has met at the Waterloo at last. Three hundred thousand strap-hangers, more or less, laid down their heads yesterday and cried loudly:

"When do I reach my car?"

And the city board, which until then had been the world's greatest free information bureau, could only answer:

"Who is going to unscramble the Los Angeles Railway system?"

Monday was one of the wildest days in the history of local transportation. It is conservatively estimated that 10,000 people missed important appointments because of delays in travel by street car. The night at the rush hour it was quite apparent that the street-car company had done one thing. It had taken the heavy traffic off Broadway and thrown it onto Seventh street. The no-man's-land, which makes auto get off Broadway after 4 o'clock, was designed to clear that street so that heavy cars could run there. Now the heaviest traffic Broadway sees is brought in by West Pico and on Broadway, now turn at First and Broadway, while Heliotrope Drive cars that run west on First street turn onto Broadway are now running on Seventh street. The Grand avenue cars that turned east at Seventh street now turn east at Eleventh street, continue up Broadway, and turn east at Second instead of First street.

On the other hand, Eagle Rock City-Hawthorne cars that formerly ran down Spring street with Jefferson-street cars now run on First street from Spring and on Broadway to Main street. This line does not carry heavy traffic and the patrons, as a whole, are not overburdened from the beginning of its run in the vicinity of Twenty-fourth street and Burlington avenue, because the East Fourth line has been suspended, and the traffic all has to be crowded onto the West Adams car, which, moreover, does not furnish as many cars as the double service did.

CAR MEN MIXED.

The company yesterday used forty-eight extra cars in an effort to handle the crowds that were confused by the new order of things. Even this did not relieve conditions, because the passengers were like a bunch of children the first day of school—did not know where to go or what to do—and this left the long-suffering public all the more helpless. When a patron asked the conductor where his car was going and the conductor said he did not know, that settled it—there was no car. But on Fifth street, several car men actually became so confused regarding their routes that they had to stop at junction points and phone in to their dispatchers in order to get their bearings. Nearly in the forenoon there were at one time seventeen cars going south between Western avenue and Wilton place on the Grand avenue line, and not a single car moving in the opposite direction, and the wait for one was about ten minutes. This line is the new Grand avenue and Moneta loop. When a car head toward the city had a marker that read Moneta, many people waiting at the curb let the car go past.

When the conductor's attention was called to the fact that his car marker read wrong, he merely smiled and replied that he did not "give a damn." And dozens of people suffered delay as a consequence.

POOR DISTRIBUTION.

The present plan makes the cross-town service heavy on Fifth and Seventh streets, there being no line on Fourth, and the cars being crowded to run on Third. This works a hardship on business along Broadway from First to Fourth street, many merchants think, and congests the district below Fifth.

The burden of the protest raised yesterday against the demoralized traffic conditions came, however, from the plain people, the thousands upon thousands who are forced to use the street cars in the daily journeys from home to business, and back again. As motor cars stand, they are exposed to both hardship and danger.

One feature of which the Police Department's traffic squad approves is the removal of cars from Third street, and the elimination of the left-hand turn at Fourth. These two features force automobiles to go up Broadway to Third street, and turn right through the tunnel. Policemen say this move is a great number of machines out toward Hollywood by the way of the tunnel. As motor cars stand, they are exposed to both hardship and danger.

WHAT PEOPLE SAY.

Norman Richards: Why has the Temple-street car been rerouted? Formerly it finished its run at First street and Broadway, a most convenient halting place, unloading its passengers where it would do the most good, yet turning back before it entered the congested district. There is no earthly reason for switching and side-tracking this most patronized of all Los Angeles street cars.

The automobilists protested against being parked far away from their business terminals. We Temple street commuters, kick vigorously against being dumped way off in the middle of East Los Angeles. We prefer our old waiting corner near the Times Building to our present one outside the County Jail.

Chief of Police Home: Never thought that I would lose myself in Los Angeles but I sure did this morning. My automobile was reported out of order and I took a street car. It looked all right and ran all right, but it never got to where I wanted to go. No street cars for me. I take an automobile or I walk.

Lyndal D. Young, former Assistant United States District Attorney: The service seems to have become worse instead of better. There was a time when you could take a car with a reasonable certainty of reaching town, but that day has passed. Some sections of the city are left without direct downtown service and this will have a depressing effect on property values.

Charles Dwight, insurance broker: Police Lieut. Daudell, in command of Central Division: When I got to work this morning I found many of my men missing. I was kind of late myself, as I ended up some place close to Eagle Rock on my first attempt to reach First street and Broadway, but at that I beat most of the officers of the day watch. All police sergeants commanding the different squads of patrolmen at Central Station reported to me the absence of about half their men. A short time later, police officers started to telephone in from all over the city. They had all started to work, but few arrived, and the hope that the cars are rerouted to their old lines or we have any men left at all by today.

Arthur Bagley, court reporter: I did not know where I was at when I got on the car this morning. I know I arrived at the Courthouse late because of the new route taken by the car.

David H. Boker, assistant manager of the Alexandria: We have had a number of complaints from tourists and other visitors not familiar with the city. They assert that the street cars do not know where they are going or what cars are to take to get to suburban points. If the rerouting is to continue, some official should find out where the cars are to run and tell us.

TOO MANY TRANSFERS.

FEARS DOG HAS TAKEN A CAR.

Canine Soaker Tells of Wild Hides as Result of Frightening Traffic Line.

When Garfield Gillis of 2913 South Normandie rushed into the police station yesterday morning to report the loss of his dog, this is what he said:

"I have been trying to get here since Sunday. Twice I landed up on the East Side, once I went to Eagle Rock, and once I looped the loop and returned home without knowing it. This time I walked. Please look for my dog. It must have taken a car. Because it went out and never came back."

Lyndal D. Young, former Assistant United States District Attorney: The service seems to have become worse instead of better. There was a time when you could take a car with a reasonable certainty of reaching town, but that day has passed. Some sections of the city are left without direct downtown service and this will have a depressing effect on property values.

Charles Dwight, insurance broker: Police Lieut. Daudell, in command of Central Division: When I got to work this morning I found many of my men missing. I was kind of late myself, as I ended up some place close to Eagle Rock on my first attempt to reach First street and Broadway, but at that I beat most of the officers of the day watch. All police sergeants commanding the different squads of patrolmen at Central Station reported to me the absence of about half their men. A short time later, police officers started to telephone in from all over the city. They had all started to work, but few arrived, and the hope that the cars are rerouted to their old lines or we have any men left at all by today.

Arthur Bagley, court reporter: I did not know where I was at when I got on the car this morning. I know I arrived at the Courthouse late because of the new route taken by the car.

David H. Boker, assistant manager of the Alexandria: We have had a number of complaints from tourists and other visitors not familiar with the city. They assert that the street cars do not know where they are going or what cars are to take to get to suburban points. If the rerouting is to continue, some official should find out where the cars are to run and tell us.

PROFESSOR'S LIBEL SUIT IS DISMISSED.

STANFORD SAVANT'S ACTION AGAINST "TIMES" FAILS IN LOCAL COURT.

The $50,000 libel suit of Prof. W. A. Cooper against The Times-Sunday Company was dismissed by Judge Jackson's court yesterday. The motion was made by Attorney W. J. Hunsaker of Hunsaker, Britt and Edwards, on the ground that the suit was not prosecuted with diligence.

The suit was originally filed in San Francisco, Prof. Cooper being a member of the faculty of Stanford University. The article for which he asked damages was published in The Times of Dec. 20, 1917, and was a report of an address by Prof. Cooper before the Teachers' Institute here.

It stated in brief that when Prof. Cooper lauded "German thinkers and writers as the leaders of the entire world in everything under the sun," he started something.

Prof. Cooper in his complaint, prepared by Attorneys Wilson and Wilson, Company, San Francisco, asserted that the article was false and malicious and caused the public to believe that he was a German. The case was transferred to Los Angeles county for trial. The motion to dismiss was not opposed in Judge Jackson's court.

OSBORNE RECOMMENDS IT BE ELIMINATED: ENGINEER CITES OBJECTIONS.

Recommendation by Chief Engineer H. Z. Osborne, Jr., that the ordinance limiting parking of autos to two hours in the so-called business district be repealed was adopted yesterday by the Board of Public Utilities. "This zone is adjacent to the congested district. The board also agreed to his report that such streets as the police department may recommend be added to the present district in which parking for forty-five minutes is permitted up to 4 p.m. The board sent both reports to the City Council for action.

Release of Recruit of Tender Age is Ordered by Judge Bledsoe.

U. S. Dist. Judge Bledsoe yesterday ordered the release of Bernard H. Ryan, a recruit on the battleship New Mexico, it being shown that at the time of his enlistment at Cincinnati, April 19, 1915, he was but 14 years of age.

The matter was not contested by Capt. A. L. Willard of the New Mexico.

Consumptive Pleads Guilty to Smuggling: Judge Shows Mercy.

U. S. District Judge Bledsoe assessed a fine of 1 cent against W. J. Shampert, yesterday, following his plea of guilty to a grand jury indictment charging the smuggling of twenty-four quarts of liquor across the line from Mexico to Los Angeles. The defendant was not only lost the liquor, but his auto, which was captured by the internal revenue officers who made the arrest.

FOR SCHOOL BONDS.

Election Expected to be Held Second Tuesday in June.

The special school bond election will probably be held on Tuesday, June 8, President McCormick of the Board of Education announced last night. He expects the resolution to be ready for the board Tuesday afternoon, adopted at once and given to the printer the same day. The bonds will be issued locally and run from one to forty years, bearing interest at 5 1/2 per cent. The amount will be about $10,000,000 and cover expenditures for the next three years.

NEW CENSUS FIGURES.

Whittier, South Pasadena and Redondo Beach Reported.

Southern California census figures reported from Washington yesterday by the Associated Press included: Whittier, 1927, an increase of 75.8 per cent since 1910. South Pasadena, 1927, an increase of 64.5 per cent. Redondo Beach, 1927, an increase of 67.4 per cent.

SURPRISE HITS YOUNG FORGER.

High Relationship Claims are Shown to be False.

Court Sentences Meador to up to Fourteen Years.

Probation Officer Changes Leniency Report.

A surprise blow hit Frank Meador, youthful forger, when he appeared in Judge Craig's court yesterday on his application for probation and was sentenced to San Quentin for from one to fourteen years. He had expected leniency, but Probation Officer Dodds changed his recommendations because he learned the falsity of assertions made by Meador that he was a relative of Senator Hoke Smith and of Congressman William Schley Howard of Georgia, and that his father, of the same name, was one of the founders of and a heavy stockholder in the Coca-Cola Company of Atlanta. When the young man stood up and awaited sentence or probation, he was informed of the report of the probation officer who exhibited a letter from Chief of Police J. L. Beavers of Atlanta denying the youth's claims.

Probation Officer Dodds made a supplemental report to the effect that the accused had passed numerous fictitious checks in Los Angeles and Atlanta. He quoted from the letter of Chief Beavers, who said Meador was no relation to Senator Smith and Congressman Howard, and was not joint heir to an estate of $125,000. Dr. Arch Avey, an uncle of the youth, wrote that it would be best not to take Meador back to Atlanta, as he is beyond redemption, and should be dealt with according to law.

Meador was granted a stay of execution of sentence for three days.

PASS TRIAL IS SET.

All Railway Fraud Defendants But One in Court.

When the defendants in the counterfeit pass conspiracy lined up in U. S. District Judge Trippett's court yesterday to have the date of their trial fixed, all were present but Mrs. Anne Powell, wife of Samuel R. Powell, the reputed head of the conspiracy, who is serving a term on at Tacoma, Wash., having made the trip after receiving the consent of the District Attorney. She expects to remain with friends there for some time.

The trial date was fixed as July 6. Those who were called to court by their names are: Ned Williams, Harry Mead, Dave Groshen, F. H. Halbritter, Frank Price, Louis Gordon, O. E. Brown, Harrison Cash, David A. Powell, Albert Clark and Charles Ogilvie.

About two years ago Mr. Hoare brought his family to Pasadena, cause the climate of the north was too severe for his wife. Early last year the missionary came to Los Angeles to visit his family and while in Los Angeles met young Maguire. The missionary asked the boy to go north with him as his assistant and was sent. Both left on the revenue cutter Bear when she made her first cruise into the Arctic from Seattle last May.

More details of the tragedy are expected as soon as mail arrives from the north. It is probable that Mr. Maguire will bring the body of his friend to California for burial.

CALIFORNIANS IN ARCTIC KILLING.

Missionary Slain by Youth; Both Families Here.

Two homes in Southern California today are filled with grief and anxiety because of brief news received from Alaska yesterday that Rev. A. R. Hoare, an Episcopal missionary at Point Hope, 115 miles north of Nome, was shot and killed April 27 by James Maguire, Jr., 18 years old, his assistant. Both have resided here and the families of both are in this city and Pasadena.

Radio messages received yesterday by W. T. Lopp, Pacific Coast chief of the U. S. Bureau of Education, Alaska Division, from the wireless station at Noorvik, telling of the killing and of the arrest of the boy by his father, James H. Maguire, sr., superintendent of the Northwest Division of the Bureau of Education, with headquarters at Kotzebue, Alaska.

Last February Mr. Hoare and Mr. Maguire, sr., leaving the son in charge of the Point Hope mission, "mushed" 200 miles to Point Barrow with dogs and reindeer. Returning two months later, Mr. Maguire stopped a few miles from Point Hope to inspect a reindeer station. The missionary proceeded to the mission. When Mr. Maguire arrived there two hours later he found Mr. Hoare dead and young Maguire holding a revolver. Mr. Maguire placed his son under arrest and is now taking him to the Federal Marshal at Candia. The boy is believed to be demented.

Mr. Hoare had been engaged in missionary work twenty years. His widow and a daughter, Margaret, aged 17, and a younger son live at Pasadena and were prostrated with grief last night when they heard of the tragedy. Mrs. James H. Maguire lives in Los Angeles but could not be located last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Maguire and their son came to Los Angeles January 24, 1917, from Cape Prince of Wales, farthest north point of North America. They brought with them Flora Tanager, an Eskimo. They spent the winter here, living at 1215 West Forty-first Place. The son spent several years at Ketchikan and there became acquainted with Mr. Hoare.

The People and Their Daily Troubles

YOURSELF in a MIRROR

BY JANE DIXON.

Make up your mind and keep it made. I wonder whether within the next century or so woman will set about to eradicate that charge of vacillation which has been camping on her doorstep for so long a time.

"Oh, well," say the men folk, giving significance to the words by an indolgent smile. "It's a woman's privilege to change her mind."

And how they do love to grant us the privilege of changing our minds! It proves so conclusively we have not yet reached that exalted plane of stability whereon the male takes his indomitable stand.

Allowing us the privilege of changing our minds is a lot like giving a bad child free access to the candy box. The candy keeps the child quiet, but it's a mighty bad thing for his "tummy." So a merry-go-round mind is certain to whirl itself into mental indigestion.

In the matter of decision we must admit masculine supremacy, and, in so far as possible, emulate it.

It may be a woman's privilege to change her mind but the wise ones among us do not take advantage of the grant. It is a privilege accorded by man to discredit us. It proves we are unstable, unworthy of trust. Would it not be infinitely better to be mistaken and abide by the mistake than to be a shifthead? Surely it would mean more respect—from man.

When a man goes to purchase a suit of clothes he has a fairly definite idea of what that suit is going to be. He knows whether he prefers blue or brown or gray. He has no doubts about whether double or single breasted style is better. He either likes outside pockets or does not like them. With these ideas firmly fixed in mind he goes to the tailor.

"I want a dark, blue suit, single breasted sack coat, fairly snug trousers without cuffs, slit pockets. There is the order all in one breath. The tailor either takes his measure or brings along a made model answering the description. In the former case the customer is on his way within five minutes. In the latter case one might add ten minutes to the five for a try-on. In any case the tailor sells a suit.

A woman goes to a shop. "I want to look at your suits," she confides to the keeper. "Something very smart, now. Your very latest models."

"Dressy or tailored?" ingratiatingly. "Oh, I don't know. Which would you advise?"

"That madame, depends on where you intend wearing it." There follows a fifteen-minute monologue on where madame will display the suit, why, what, when and how, with a few chapters of family history thrown in.

"Oh, I should think a tailored model would meet your needs," decides the shopkeeper. "Have you a preference in color?"

"Yes, indeed, brown for me. I always wear brown."

"We have some very stunning brown models," the keeper responds, "happy at last to be under way. 'Oh, wait a minute,' from the customer. 'I don't believe I will get a brown suit this time. I have one in fairly good condition, and no end of dresses and hats and things—all brown. People will think I never have anything new. How would a red do, a dark red, or a blue, or a green, or one of those mixed effects?"

"Yes, madame. Much of the ingratiating smile has disappeared by this time. 'Which of the colors you have named shall it be?' 'Let me see—I really can't make up my mind. I tell you what I'll do. I'll look at them all. Then I'll be sure not to make a mistake.'"

We might go on with this harrowing scene indefinitely, but why continue the agony? Suffice it to say when the turns are in they show the purchase of one tan tailored suit, which is exchanged the following day for a diametrically opposite model of dressy purple.

And then we wonder why no man in his right senses will accompany us on our shopping expedition. We think because the best of husbands bolt at a department store door he is heartless, unsympathetic, lacking interest in our appearance. Whereas he may be nothing of the sort. He is merely the average man unable to endure the fickleness of feminine fancy.

An automobile salesman confided to me lately he would rather tackle six men, each with a separate and distinct type of motor "bug" than one woman.

"I have on record right now the case of a woman who changed her order to the factory five times," explained the salesman. "First she wanted a roadster, then she thought she'd try a chummy roadster. Next day she came running in all out of breath to tell me she had decided on a closed car, a coupe. Two days later a frantic wire from Buffalo cancelled the coupe and made it a touring car. Late the same evening a second wire notified me she had gone back to the original idea, and I should make it a roadster."

"And she has been true to the roadster ever since?" I asked.

"Yes," dubiously, "ever since last night. That was when I had the second signal from Buffalo."

You have seen her in the restaurant, have you not, the lady with the febrile fancy?

Strudiously she pursues the elaborate menu.

Here, as never before, she is in a quandary.

The waiter stands at attention, pencil poised.

"I think I'll try some of that creamed chicken on toast," says the lady.

"One creamed chicken on toast," chants the waiter, jotting the order nimbly on his writing pad.

"Goodness," ejaculated the lady. "I forgot. Creamed chicken is fattening. Isn't it? I simply must refuse. Now let me see, what have you here that isn't fattening? Lobster croquettes, veal paprika, broiled lamb chops—that's it, broiled lamb chops. I'll have those, please, well done."

"One broiled lamb chop," jots the waiter, making a quick dash away before another change in mind can occur.

"I see," calls Lady Patron, catching her servant half way down the room, "just a moment, please. I see lamb chops are served with creamed potatoes. Could you serve string beans instead?"

"Sorry, madame. I can bring you an order of string beans."

"No, no; I don't want an entire order. I'm sure I don't see why I can't have string beans in place of the potatoes when I prefer them. If they are so particular about their old lamb chops, I will not have them at all. Just bring me that creamed chicken on toast. I'll start reducing tomorrow."

The heckled waiter disappears in the direction of the kitchen. He would bet a $10 gold piece against a lead nickel that the lady will which this "delicious" charging after him, to tell him she has changed her mind and will compromise on a minute steak.

I have seen men out in bad humor for an entire evening by this embarrassing changeability of mind on the part of their dinner companion.

A man is a most self-conscious human being. He dislikes to make a fuss, to be conspicuous. An amused twinkle in the eye of a waiter gives him great discomfort.

Why, then, when a woman seeks the approval of a certain man, will she deliberately destroy any progress she has made by petty vacillations?

It is better to be wrong than to be ridiculous.

And the best way to avoid being either is to cease making snap judgments. Give time and thought to your decisions, and once you are reasonably certain you are right stick to it.

Women's privileges to change her mind is a most deleterious one. It has led her to make such a change at the very stage of the marriage altar. Fine fabric of love torn and stained, ideals shattered, hope violated—all because we are credited with having the mental stamina of a jelly fish. A costly privilege this.

What shall we use to wipe out the stigma? Slicktittiveness!

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES"

Commercialized Patriotism. PASADENA, April 29.—[To the Editor of The Times:] There is not a shadow of a doubt that the universal desire of the nation is to go to the limit in helping the ex-service men and by so doing, show our appreciation of the service they rendered the world, but the manner in which this is to be accomplished so as to enable them to help themselves, requires deep thought.

The undersigned, as proposed by a bill drafted for Congress represents the appropriation of over two billion dollars that must be added to existing bills for the relief of two billion, has its faults. If the payment of $50 per month commencing at the time of discharge as applied to the term bonus as applied to the war, it would put over five hundred million dollars on the nation's balance sheet. It is the quickest way to help those who require immediate relief.

Personally, the eighteen months of service that it was my privilege to give to my country in its hour of need has no market value expressed in dollars and cents, and the money I lost during that period is more than offset by the perfect physical condition the army gave me and consequently the ability to easily make up the loss.

Regarding the war's unfortunate, these noble fellows who left physically fit and returned crippled, we can thank God that the war did not last long enough to make many and to those who are the nation's love and sympathy should be expressed in terms of dollars to the extent of making their lives as happy as possible and free from care.

We are living in such a material age that as a nation we think the payment of money will cover our obligations, but we must not forget that to make a perfectly happy, contented and Bonaparte-proof man, he must be given something to keep his hands and mind occupied, preferably at labor which he receives direct benefit from.

To the majority of ex-service men, the payment of cash now will seem money, but it is a temporary relief, and for the nation's future, and in time they would see the wisdom of this plan.

P. S. STOVER, 1937 La France Avenue, South Pasadena, Cal.

The Vice-Presidency. LOS ANGELES, April 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The last paragraph under "Pen Points" in your issue of the 27th inst. regarding the Vice-Presidency seems to me most timely and pertinent in view of the approaching national nomination conventions.

It would seem that the duties of the Vice-President should be so changed that men of first-rate ability would at least not shun the office. The people of the United States should realize, as you suggest, that but one life stands between the Presidency and the Vice-Presidency. Therefore, the Vice-President should be as able a man as the President, if possible.

How can this be brought about? Clearly the office must be made sufficiently important with the considerations of the succession, and the duties and powers attending it be made such as to attract first-rate ability. Would not this time be most opportune to urge this vital matter upon the attention and thought of the people of the country?

Why not urge that the Vice-President be given, ex officio, an important position in the cabinet, as a member without a portfolio, or preferably as Secretary of State. He might still be President of the Senate, nominally, to conform to the present constitutional requirements. This dual service might bring the

For the Sake of Whiter, Safer Teeth

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

It is Film that causes men's teeth to discolor, and that holds tobacco stains.

It is Film that clouds women's teeth, spoils their glistening beauty and is the basis of tartar.

It is Film which is responsible for decay in children's teeth. It is the source of most tooth troubles.

The dealers named below have been supplied with 10-Day Tubes of Pepsodent. This week a tube will be handed free to anyone who asks. Simply present the coupon. The purpose is to urge a test of this film-removing tooth paste, which leading dentists nowadays advise. Prove the results for your own sake and your children's sake. Learn what they mean to your teeth.

See How Your Teeth Look When the Film is Gone

There is on your teeth a slimy film. You can feel it with your tongue. It clings to the teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

The tooth brush doesn't end it. The ordinary dentifrice does not dissolve it. So it clings and, night and day, it may do ceaseless damage.

The Tooth Wrecker

That film is the great tooth wrecker. Most tooth troubles are now traced to it.

The film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of many other troubles, local and internal.

That is why well-brushed teeth so often discolor and decay, why tartar forms and pyorrhea starts. You leave much of that film.

Tooth troubles are constantly increasing, as statistics show, despite the wide use of the tooth brush. And the reason lies in that film.

Now We Combat It

Dental science, after years of searching, has now found a way to combat film. Able authorities have proved it by convincing clinical and laboratory tests. Thousands of dentists have proved it, and at least a million people.

The results are seen everywhere in cleaner, whiter teeth. Some of your own friends have them.

For home use, this method is embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And this week you can test it at our cost.

Based on Pepsin

Pepsodent is based on pepsin, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepsin long seemed impossible. It must be activated, and the usual method is an acid harmful to the teeth. But dental science has discovered a harmless activating method. And that method, used in Pepsodent, enables all to daily use this efficient film combatant.

Watch the Results

We urge you to present the coupon. Get the 10-Day Tube and use like any tooth paste. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten—how they glisten—as the fixed film disappears.

Compare the results with your old methods. Then let your own teeth decide the method best for you and yours.

This is of lifetime importance. Don't neglect it. Cut out this coupon so you won't forget.

LIFE SENTENCE TO "BLUEBEARD"

Slayer will be Started to San Quentin Saturday.

Story of Horrifying Career Bartered for His Neck.

Women Throng Courtroom to Gaze at Calm Fiend.

Joseph Gilliam, better known as "Bluebeard" Watson, self-confessed slayer of nine of his bigamous wives and by his own admissions one of the most fiendish murderers in the annals of crime, yesterday with deepest gratitude, heard Superior Judge Willis sentence him to life imprisonment at San Quentin. A stay of execution until Saturday was granted, giving him, as is customary, five days in which to wind-up his affairs.

The sentence gives him his life, which he loves fiercely. It spares his neck from the hangman's noose and frees his mind from the only dread that has haunted him while he lay on his cot at the County Hospital during the last three weeks.

And in exchange for the life sentence recommended to Judge Willis by Dist. Atty. Woolwine, he bartered the story of his horrifying career—the story of the slaying of nine women he had married—and the secrets of his whole life, which he has so zealously guarded throughout his years of deceit. With the names of nine trusting women writ upon his calendar of murders, he escaped the penalty often meted to those who have slain only one person—the penalty of death.

"Bluebeard" knew that he would be given his selfish and worthless life, so he entered the crowded courtroom calm and undisturbed by the terrifying thought that enters the minds of so many who have slain. He knew he would not be hanged, though the less fortunate

THIRTY SEEK OFFICE.

Many Applications Received for Museum Curatorship.

Nearly thirty applications for the position of curator at the Museum of History, Science and Art have been received by the board of governors since the death of Curator Frank Daggett a few weeks ago, according to Howard Robertson, president of the Public Service Commission, who was made temporary curator by the Board of County Supervisors.

Mr. Robertson says some of the applications have come from points as far distant as San Francisco, but that most are from Southern California. One of the most recent is from James F. Armstrong of 2611 South Hobart boulevard, a member of the British Art Association.

The board of governors, which is headed by William B. Ewen, will probably select a curator at a meeting within the next two weeks, Mr. Robertson thinks, and will be guided, he believes, by the idea that a man not over 45 years of age, who is equally well grounded in history, science and art, is needed.

MUST Mr. Robertson says the Otis Art Institute branch of the museum is enjoying wonderful development, and that a high-grade man is needed for the position, even though it pays but $200 per month.

DANZIGER'S WOUND

NOT VERY SEVERE.

J. M. Danziger, well-known attorney, who suffered a flesh wound in the left hand Sunday afternoon at his Beverly Hills home while cleaning his revolver, is not experiencing much inconvenience as a result of the mishap. He expects to go fishing within a week, despite the injury. He was in the city yesterday to have the wounded member dressed.

MERCHANDISE MACHINE SET Chief of Police Home and City Prosecutor Widney were made defendants yesterday in a suit by L. H. Stark, who seeks to have them restrained from interfering with merchandise machines placed throughout the city.

petty criminals in the County Jail shouted "hang him!" as he passed their grated windows. Dist. Atty. Woolwine had told him he would never set his wretched foot upon the scaffold of justice, and that was why "Bluebeard" bared his past life, the history of his crimes, his coveted secrets.

WOMEN CROWD ROOM.

In the courtroom were scores of women and girls. They had come early to gaze upon the man who had slain so many of their own sex. Outside, at the entrance to the Hall of Justice and facing the County Jail, were hundreds more, all clamoring to look upon his ashen, sardonic face, and his long, ape-like hands, that had done so many murders. He was neatly dressed in a gray suit, and showed few signs of nervousness. In fact, the legal proceeding seemed to bore him.

After Judge Willis had read to "Bluebeard" the indictment charging him with the murder of Nina Lee Deloney, the court asked:

"James P. Watson, have you any legal cause to show why judgment should not be pronounced?"

"We have no legal cause, Your Honor," replied Attorney J. Morgan Marmaduke, counsel for "Bluebeard."

Several witnesses were called by the District Attorney. Deputy Sheriff Counts told of "Bluebeard's" arrest, of his attempt to commit suicide, of the investigation of his crimes. Mr. Counts said Watson's excuse for the suicidal attempt was "You've got me hooked, and I might just as well take this route as to do the stretch. I thought this was the shortest way out of it. I would live only a couple of years, anyway."

ROSTER OF DEAD. Deputy Sheriff Counts then told of the many murders "Bluebeard" had confessed. Elizabeth Prior he beat to death with a hammer at Plum Station, Wash. Then he buried her in a stone hole.

Nina Lee Deloney he slew at Signal Hill, near Long Beach. Beatrice Andrews he drowned in Lake Washington. Bertha Goodnick he beat with a rock and drowned in Lake Washington.

Agnes Wilson he also beat with a rock and then shoved her over the falls of the Spokane River.

Alice Ludvigson was drowned in the St. Joe River, Idaho, in the midst of a log jam.

Marie Austin was drowned by him

Old King Cotton is Killing the Dragon "H. C. L." and His Breed—

Armed with his trusty shield and wielding his good sword, old King Cotton is waging mighty war against the dragon "H. C. L." these days at the City Dye Works. He is reclaiming old and faded summer organdies and lawn dresses—is re-dyeing them in the fresh new summer colorings—is making them look like new. Here's a good common-sense way to cut clothes costs—

Save by Dyeing

See the window display this week in our uptown store. See the bright new-looking summer dresses that are nothing but old faded dresses that have been re-dyed by our experts. The cost is very moderate. Phone South 120 or 27071 and our representative will call.

NO COMPROMISE IN BOND FIGHT.

Pasadena Factions Can't Agree on School Needs.

Plan Celebration in Honor of Pilgrim Fathers.

Open Busch Gardens for One-Day Benefit.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
PASADENA, May 10.—Negotiations carried on today between contending forces in the local controversy over the proposed $2,000,000 bond issue for schools, for the abandonment of the special bond election set for Wednesday, May 12, were fruitless.

The board announced that it would only call off the election Wednesday on the promise of having another election called before school closes June 15. But the board members and the taxpayers' league have been unable to agree upon the personnel of a compromise committee which would determine the kind of bond issue. The league has held that the board's estimates of school needs are too high.

HEADS MAYFLOWER COUNCIL.

Dr. Henry Churchill Kins, president of Oberlin College, was here today, attending the funeral of Dr. Charles Lee King, Pasadena physician, whose death occurred a few days ago. The president of Oberlin College is prominent in the Congregational denomination and is chairman of the American Mayflower Council for the celebration of the tercentenary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers. Mr. King held a conference today with Dr. John Willis Baer, moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, and it is likely that participation of the Presbyterians in the Mayflower tercentenary celebration will be brought up at the general assembly in Philadelphia next week.

WILL RAISE BUFFALOES.

Cochran Armour, Pasadena capitalist, is to raise buffaloes on his new ranch in the Santa Ynez Valley, beyond Santa Barbara, according to Leo C. MacLaughlin of Pasadena. Armour's agent in buying the property, Mr. Armour has just bought the 500-acre ranch of J. H. Henry of Santa Ynez county, and will breed buffaloes there. Mr. Armour traded his Linda Vista property and paid a cash balance for the Henry ranch.

TAKE UNDERWEAR AND SHOES.

Burglars who broke into the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific freight stations some time during last night ransacked all the crates of goods in the premises, but apparently took nothing but women's and children's underwear and a dozen pairs of men's shoes. The burglars were discovered when the freight employees entered the station this morning. The depots are a block apart.

BURCH GARDENS TO OPEN.

The Burch gardens, which have been closed to the public some time, will be reopened Wednesday by Mrs. J. B. Burch for the benefit of the Pasadena Hospital fund. A nominal charge of admission will be made and the gross receipts will be donated to the hospital.

START MURDER TRIAL.

Wife of Dead Man Unable to Remain in Court.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]
EL CIENTO, May 10.—The case against Fred Lake, charged with the murder of J. A. Parin at Winterhaven on February 11, opened in Department One of the Superior Court before Judge Franklin J. Cole today, in what promises to be a bitterly-contested case. The entire morning was spent in selecting a jury.

Seated in an anteroom was the gray-haired wife of the deceased man, and during the preliminary arguments of the District Attorney and the defendant's counsel could be heard plainly in the courtroom. The little woman was sitting in the courtroom with her five daughters. When the accused man was brought before the court by Deputy Sheriff Sam Griffin, the presence of the accused was more than the frail mother could stand and she left the room.

SAN DIEGO, May 10.—Nearly 400 San Diego business men and representatives of the Marine Corps, army and navy attended a luncheon given at the U. S. Grant Hotel today in honor of Maj.-Gen. George Barnett, commander of the United States Marine Corps. Addresses were made by A. P. Johnson, Jr., president of the Chamber of Commerce, and other San Diegoans and Gen. Barnett made a brief response. Tomorrow will be occupied with inspection of the progress of the work at the marine base at Dutch Flats by Gen. Barnett.

Local Legionnaires were quick to accept the gift, and will take possession of the attractive bungalow at once. At a recent meeting of the post, Judge Herbert R. Farrel was elected chairman, and Delbert C. C. v. treasurer.

BEACH IMPROVEMENT.

Ocean Park Citizens Asked to Vote $275,000 in Bonds.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]
SANTA MONICA, May 10.—The citizens of Ocean Park will decide May 17 whether or not they will build an auditorium with seating capacity of 10,000, a playground and a parking area with all conveniences, at Kinney street and Ocean front. An election will decide a bond issue calling for $275,000, and will be decided by the votes of the Ocean Park citizens only. It is the general belief that the proposed improvement will not directly benefit the North Side population. The open-air auditorium, where it is planned to have the band stand the big playground and the parking space will cover several acres of the broad stretch of white sand.

SAN DIEGO, May 10.—Cave County, a prominent resident of this county, was acquitted today by a jury on charges of violating the liquor laws. BANKS ADVISE SALE OF BONDS.

Ask Bids on Over Million Dollars' Worth.

Fear of High Rate on Other Issues Unfounded.

Public Service Bonds to be Sold Later.

The City Council was advised by leading bankers, who are members of the Los Angeles Clearing House Association, at a conference held yesterday afternoon at the Citizens' National Bank, to ask for bids at once at the prevailing market rate for the $1,200,000 harbor improvement bonds, the sale of which has been authorized by the city government. The fear of some of the Councilmen that if the city was forced now by market conditions to pay an interest rate of 5 1/2 or even 6 per cent might pledge the municipality to pay an equally high rate on its future issues, was declared without foundation by the bankers present. In view of the situation as revealed at yesterday's conference, the Finance Committee of the Council at once started the ball again—rolling to sell the bonds, asking local bond houses for bids, to be received not later than 11 a.m. Thursday.

Present at yesterday's conference were bankers, the Finance Committee of the Council, City Treasurer Powell, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and of Special Counsel W. B. Matthews of the Board of Public Service Commissioners, who soon to place on the market $2,000,000 of bonds, the proceeds of which are to be used for the building of reservoirs and extensions in the water system of the city.

UNITY LEAGUE MEETS.

Notable Conference Today will be Held at Broadway Store.

With former Senator Flint presiding, a public meeting called by the Los Angeles chapter, Anglo-American Unity League, Inc., will be held in the Broadway Department Store auditorium at 2 p.m. today. Delegates of all social welfare organizations, clubs, churches, civic and other societies have been invited. The speakers will include Bishop Johnson, Dean MacCormack, Capt. Tempier Powell and Senator Critchfield of Utah. Allan Dwan will supervise the filming of the conference. The very fact of so many influential women gathering in our State Capitol is an argument in itself for orderly living in the State. It is a telling blow to the disturbing elements both in the State and the nation, that threaten the integrity and the very safety of our country at this time.

Mrs. J. B. Stearns of Los Angeles, chairman of the club extension for the Los Angeles district and the State, has a glowing report to give of the growth of the Federation during her term. WOMEN'S WORK, WOMEN'S CLUBS.

BY MYRA NYE.

Last evening just after the dinner hour many of the elite of Los Angeles club circles left for Sacramento on a special car on the Southern Pacific. They will arrive there today at noon, in time for the second session of the twentieth annual convention of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, the morning session having been devoted to the routine business of convening and to preliminary reports, with the State president, Mrs. George Schless of San Francisco, presiding.

Mrs. Joseph Evans Cowles, president of the General Federation, will leave this morning to be the guest of Gov. and Mrs. Stephens at the executive mansion during the convention. Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, past State president, and Mrs. Matthew Robertson, president of the Ebell Club, will also be present.

One of the highlights of the convention is to be the address of the speaker at the club yesterday was the Chinese scholar, traveler and philosopher, Dr. Chang, representative from China of Hung Tao, the only philosophical Chinese in the Chinese Federation. "The Origin of the Chinese People" and "The Chinese People" are the titles of his two books. Dr. Chang is a native of China, and his first wife was a Chinese. He is now in Los Angeles, where he is teaching at the University of California.

Exquisite miniatures painted on ivory by A. A. Meripol of Los Angeles, will be the medium for the time yesterday. Woman's City Club.

The Woman's City Club yesterday afternoon was the medium for an interesting propaganda and facts presented by three leaders in their respective lines. Capt. G. L. Australia spoke for the Salvation Army, Dr. J. D. Rider from South America, representing the Society of the American Republics, spoke for the Western Hemisphere, and the union of the two organizations, the American League for the Advancement of the Chamber of Commerce, spoke for the Industrial and Commercial Advancement of Los Angeles.

"You have heard about salvation and about how now I add industry to make it a triumvirate," said Mr. Kemp. "While Los Angeles is down in the list of industries in the United States, it is coming up all the time and soon will be one of the leaders." Mr. Kemp said that the Los Angeles club has a weekly pay roll of $2,000,000.

"Our industrial parade, the second one we have attempted, will far exceed that of last year. Already we have 350 entries, with all eager to have a part, whereas last year only 150 were entered."

"Industrial week in your week," continued Mr. Kemp. The committee headed by W. T. Bishop is planning to make it a big success. We desire the co-operation and interest of the club women."

Mrs. E. R. Brainerd, member of the club, appointed by Mrs. Herman Darling, president, to be the delegate at the Los Angeles American League meeting tomorrow night. Mrs. E. R. Brainerd was named club-member chairman for the Salvation Army drive.

In view of the disturbance at the club a week ago, when a member was lacking in courtesy to the presiding officer, Mrs. W. K. Bent presented a resolution asking the president of the club formally to inter-sympathy with the president's ruling. The resolution further embodied a charge in the by-laws giving the president more power under similar disturbing circumstances. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Borden's

THE IMPROVED

MALTED MILK

Let the little ones cultivate a healthy between-meal habit. Borden's Malted Milk is better for them than candy, sodas and cookies, and they like it, too.

Spread it on their bread and butter when they romp in from school wanting something good to eat. Or make a hot, refreshing drink by dissolving it with water or with milk. Kiddies like it because they know what's good.

In Borden's Malted Milk the best products of farm and dairy are processed together in the pure Borden way. The way that over sixty years' experience in the handling and manufacture of milk products has perfected.

PURITY is maintained throughout the manufacture—from the use of the best grade of fresh, country milk to the tightly capped container in which it comes to you.

NOURISHMENT in a concentrated form that is easily digested—made possible by the action of the malt ferments.

PALATABILITY, so that it is delightful as a beverage, is attained by eliminating the excessive sweetness as well as the peculiar malt "tang".

Borden's Malted Milk is a standardized product, resulting from standardized raw materials.

Ask for Borden's and be sure your children get the milk that is actually "malted".

SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

Admiral Williams.
Vice-Admiral Clarence Williams, in command of the Pacific Fleet during Admiral Rodman's absence, is host at a luncheon today on board the U. S. S. New Mexico. The long table is centered with a handsome floral piece—a miniature canoe filled with pink sweet peas. At either end of it is a flat piece of ferns and sweet peas. Plates are set for twenty-two guests, among whom are Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt, Mrs. Charles Rivers Drake, Mrs. Macomber, Mrs. C. E. Musick, Miss Ayres, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Woolwine, Mrs. Leonard Hirsch, Mrs. Ralph Wolf, Dr. and Mrs. William M. Lewis, Mrs. Madison W. Stewart and a number of officers on Admiral Rodman's staff. On Saturday, Admiral Williams guests will include besides Mrs. Williams, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Bryant, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meade-Orr, Mr. and Mrs. James Calhoun Drake, Mrs. Mary Wilcox Longstreet, Mr. Alfred Wilcox, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dunn, Dr. and Mrs. Granville MacGowan and Mrs. Madison Stewart.

Supper and Theater Parties.
A number of society folks are already planning after-supper parties to be given on Monday evening next following the "Passing Show" at the Auditorium, where they will take their guests. Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Connel will entertain a company; Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Rogers are to have guests; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Davis will have eighteen in their party. Mr. William A. Clark Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Clark are to entertain theater and supper parties.

For Two Brides-Elect.
Miss Margaret Kellogg is planning two luncheons for next week. The first is to be given next Tuesday in honor of Miss Marie Schaller, whose engagement to Dr. Richard Frances Mogan, Jr., of San Francisco was announced exclusively in The Times last week. On the following day she will entertain a company of debutantes at luncheon in honor of Miss Louise Forre, fiancée of Mr. Edgar Gale Miller.

By Miss Francisco.
In honor of two brides-elect, Miss Marguerite Orena, fiancée of Mr. Frank Casey and Miss Marjorie Rotford, who is engaged to Mr. Ben Williams, Miss Nanette Francisco is planning a tea for the afternoon of Friday, May 21.

Wedding Date Set.
Miss Virginia Holmes of this city, and Mr. Edward W. Moses of Kansas City, whose engagement was announced in December, have set the evening of June 8 as their wedding date. It will take place at the home of Miss Holmes's mother, Mrs. Albert E. Holmes, and will be a quiet affair. Many social courtesies are being planned for the bride-elect. On Friday, May 21, Mrs. F. M. Lyon of 7674 Hawthorne avenue is to give a bridge luncheon for her.

Entertaining Son.
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simpson of Wilshire Place have been enjoying a visit from their son, Lieutenant Commander Frank Simpson, Jr., of the United States naval aviation station at North Island. He was en route to San Diego from San Francisco, where he was in charge of the naval aviation exhibit at the Aero Show.

For Dr. Kall.
As a farewell courtesy to Dr. Alexis Kall, who is leaving for Europe soon, Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt is giving her morning musicale at the Hotel Alexandria ballroom at 10 o'clock today. She is being assisted by a large number of society women, and there is to be an interesting musical program.

By Mr. Birkel.
On Saturday evening at his country place in Laurel Canyon, Mr. George J. Birkel was host at a delightful supper-dance. An impromptu musicale and dramatic recital added much to the enjoyment of the affair. There was rather a large attendance. Among the guests were Mr. Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs. John Newton Russell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hollingsworth, Mr. and Mrs. Archer, Mrs. Ellen Beach Taw, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zoellner, Joseph Zoellner, Jr., Miss Zoellner, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Dyer, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Itching, Scratching, Skin Diseases That Burn Like Flames of Fire

Here is a Saneable Treatment That Gets Prompt Results.

For real downright, harrassing discomfort very few disorders can approach so-called skin disorders, such as Eczema, Tetter, Boils, Eruptions, scaly irritations and similar skin troubles, notwithstanding the lavish use of salves, lotions, washes and other treatments applied externally to the irritated parts.

No one ever heard of a person being afflicted with any form of skin disease whose blood was in good condition. Therefore, it is but logical to conclude that the proper method of treatment for pimples, blotches, sores, boils, rough, red and scaly skin, is to purify the blood and remove the tiny germs of pollution that break through and manifest their presence on the surface of the skin. People in all parts of the country have written us how they were completely rid of every trace of these disorders by the use of S. S. S., the matchless, purely vegetable blood cleanser. S. S. S. goes direct to the center of the blood supply, and strengthens and builds up the circulation, giving a clear and ruddy complexion that indicates a healthy condition of the skin. BIG EATERS GET

KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps at head, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizziness, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Advertisement.

ROBS CALOMEL OF
NAUSEA AND DANGER

Medicinal Virtues Retained and Improved—Dangerous and Sickening Qualities Removed. New Tablet Called "Calotabs."

The latest triumph of modern pharmacy is a "de-nauseated" calomel tablet known to the drug trade as "Calotabs." Calomel, the most generally useful of all medicines, thus enters upon a wider field of popularity—purified and refined from those objectionable qualities which have heretofore limited its use.

In biliousness, constipation, headache and indigestion, and in a great variety of liver, stomach and kidney troubles calomel was the most successful remedy. Its use was often neglected on account of its sickening qualities. Now it is the easiest and most pleasant of medicines to take. One tablet on the tongue at bedtime with a swallow of water—that's all. No taste, no griping, no nausea, no salts. A good night's sleep and the next morning you are feeling fine, with a clean liver, a purified bowels, and a healthy appetite. Eat what you please. No danger.

Calotabs are sold only in original, sealed packages, price thirty-five cents. Your druggist is authorized to refund the price as a guarantee that you will be thoroughly delighted with Calotabs.—Advertisement.

KILLER CALLED SANE, LUNATIC

Alienists Evenly Divided as to "Bluebeard's" Mind.

Judge Finds He is Depraved, but Knows His Guilt.

Woolwine Tells of Bargain that Bought Confession.

In Lake Coeur d'Alene after he had beaten her with a rock. Two other wives in addition to these were murdered by Watson, according to his own statements. They were Eleanor Frazer of Calgary, Can., whom he drowned also at Spokane Falls, and Mrs. M. A. Watt, supposedly of Winnipeg, whom he drowned in Lake Coeur d'Alene. The name of the last woman was not mentioned in any of his previous statements, but Deputy Sheriff Court declared last night that "Bluebeard" had confessed late last Saturday that he had committed this murder.

ALIENISTS DIFFER.

Dist. Atty. Woolwine then called four alienists to the stand—Dr. Edward H. Williams, Dr. Charles L. Allen, Dr. Louis Weber and Dr. George G. Hunter. They had been called by the court to examine "Bluebeard" on his sanity, but when they submitted their reports to Judge Willis it was learned that two of them characterized the killer as a sexual pervert and the other two as insane, while the other two alienists declared he was not a pervert and was not insane.

Dr. Williams, in support of his report that "sexual perversion is the dominant element in Watson's mental abnormality," stated: "Mentally I find that he seems to have a lack of full appreciation of the enormity of his deeds, and coupled with the fact that there does not seem to be an adequate motive for these promiscuous killings that he has done, unless the motive be a sexual one. Some of them were for money, perhaps, some of them were not for money."

"His attitude toward all the crimes," he explained, "that all of them had been committed within the last twenty months; that up to that time he had been a normal man, and that he had committed this number of killings during ten months' time, and then there was a lapse of almost ten months before he committed the last murder."

NO REMORSE SHOWN.

Dr. Williams testified he found no evidence of remorse in Watson during his many talks with him, but he did find evidence of sadness and melancholy bearing upon trivial things in his earlier life. Nor did he feel that "Bluebeard" had answered with frankness all questions asked him during the various official conferences.

"The man knows right from wrong," said Dr. Williams, "and at the time those acts were committed, he did not appreciate and at the present time he doesn't appreciate the enormity of the crime and the wrong about them."

Dr. Charles L. Allen also testified that he believed "Bluebeard's" condition is due to sadism.

Dr. Louis Weber in his report stated he found no physical evidence of degeneracy in Watson's condition, nor any evidence of insanity, excepting a mental inferiority.

"The crimes were not because of a diseased mind," said Dr. Weber, "or insanity, nor because of sadism, but because of a lack of restraint, common in criminals, and well expressed—a self-abandonment to vicious inclinations."

ON BORDER LINE.

Dr. George C. Hunter, the last of the alienists called to testify, stated he did not believe "Bluebeard" is insane.

"We have a great group of mental patients whom we are unable to classify," he said, "those border-line cases that lie between the manifestly insane, those who have hallucinations and delusions and who attempt manifestly insane things, and the normal man—a great group of them that is very difficult to classify, and I think this man is one of that type."

Dr. Hunter declared his opinion that Watson knew the distinction between right and wrong and that he knew the consequences of his acts at the time they were committed.

Following the testimony of the alienists, Dist. Atty. Woolwine read his statement to the court, reviewing the investigation that led to the conviction of Watson or Gillingham and explaining the reasons why he himself advised the court to recommend to Judge Willis life imprisonment for the man in exchange for his complete confession.

JUDGE'S VIEWS.

Sentence was then pronounced by Judge Willis.

"I find you to be physically unsound, mentally deficient and morally depraved," said the judge, "and further from this examination that you are capable of distinguishing between right and wrong in regard to the nature of your acts and therefore legally responsible for their consequences."

"We therefore now become my duty to determine the degree of the murder to which you have pleaded guilty and I have no hesitation in fixing it to be murder in the first degree. It is therefore ordered that you be confined to the State Prison at San Quentin for the period prescribed by law, and by order of the court, to the nature of your acts and therefore legally responsible for their consequences."

Upon request of Attorney Marmaduke, the five-day stay of execution was granted, to enable Watson to attend to business matters. He will be taken to San Quentin next Saturday afternoon by either Deputy Sheriff Courts or Deputy Bell.

Following the sentence the prisoner was spirited into the County Jail and out a side door and thence to the County Hospital, while hundreds of curious spectators clamored for a last glimpse of the man whose career of murder and bigness has been recorded as the most ghastly case entered upon the records of crime in the last century.

About Rheumatism.

People are learning that it is only a waste of time and money to take medicine internally for chronic and muscular rheumatism, and about ninety-nine out of a hundred cases are one or the other of these varieties. All that is really necessary to afford relief is to apply Chamberlain's Liniment freely. Try it. It costs but 25 cents per bottle; large size 60 cents.—Advertisement.

ARCH-KILLER TELLS HIS LIFE HISTORY.

The man's statement, giving full details of his life from his earliest recollections and adding more murders to the list of those he had already confessed, was made in the presence of Dist. Atty. Woolwine, Deputy Sheriff Courts and Bell, three alienists and A. S. Cutler, a shorthand reporter, and J. Morgan Marmaduke, the man's attorney.

"Bluebeard" Watson is Joseph Gillingham, son of a farmer now supposed to be living near Paris, Kan. The father is George Gillingham, but in "Bluebeard's" infancy his parents separated and his mother later married a rural blacksmith named John Holden, a man with a furious temper who beat the stepson severely almost every day. At that time the boy was known as Dan Holden.

"Bluebeard" said he ran away from home when his mother forbade him one day to go to Sunday school. He worked on various farms in Kansas to earn his living, at Sarcoxie and Monett, and in Missouri communities—Verona, Exeter and Neosho. He worked with a shovel at Eureka Springs, Ark. At Seligman, Mo., he saved the enormous sum of $1.80 from his pocket. He did not drink and was devoted to duty led by his promotion to a job on a surveying gang. Then he decided to become an educator and took up arithmetic and reading.

His next position was in a doctor's office. He went to school during spare hours. He wore the doctor's old clothes, including a long-tailed coat, and traveled around with him. A dollar a week was his wage, which was paid back to the doctor for "book learning."

Watson finally quit this high-salaried job, and accepted a position with a Chicago mercantile agency. At this time he participated in an oratorical contest, his subject being "The Possibilities of the Future." Watson lost the contest.

When he had become successful in a small way in his new position, which was seeking contracts to collect debts for various firms, he changed his name to that of his father—Gillingham.

Under the name, he married his first wife about seventeen years ago. She was Marie Hollingsworth of Coffeyville, Kan. They had been childhood sweethearts, but the marriage was unhappy. They were divorced and the girl-wife married again.

He was later taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism, and placed in a hospital by the Y.M.C.A. When he recovered, he spent many of his evenings with the Y.M.C.A. "He met better boys, and so that he could attend church occasionally."

Soon after his first marriage adventure, he went to Texas, to Hillborough, Dallas and Austin. From Fort Worth, Tex., to Oklahoma then up to Denver, he traveled for the Chicago firm. After traveling through Colorado, he went back to Kansas, thence to Oklahoma, and back to Missouri.

Watson adopted a third alias, that of Lawrence Harris, about that time because he had had trouble with his former wife over a real estate deal. "You are sure you did not make away with this woman?" Watson was asked by Dist. Atty. Woolwine at this point of the interview in which the Bluebeard's life history was revealed.

"Absolutely. She was married again and now lives in Coffeyville. For several years, Watson said, he traveled out of St. Louis, under the name of Lawrence Harris, for a stamp and seal company. Then he married the second time. The girl's name was Olive Greenlee, but he said he "just simply couldn't get along with her."

He was then divorced from this girl, he said, and married Alice Freeman of St. Louis. The marriage took place in Alton, Ill. He still traveled under the name of Lawrence Harris.

While conducting a mail order business, he was indicted for using the mails to defraud, but before he was arrested, he "simply dropped" the mail and went to Canada. He was married to Alice Freeman for two years.

CAREER IN CANADA.

At Moose Jaw, Can., after studying what name he should adopt, he decided on James P. Watson. The year was about 1912, he said. At Calgary he worked for the Robin Hood mills for a year. Resigning from the mills he entered business for himself at Vancouver. At the beginning of the war he moved to Calgary, when he lost most of his savings through the slump in the markets.

His fourth marriage was at Nelson, Can., when he married Katherine Kruse Watson. Though his business did not fail absolutely, it decreased so that about a year ago, Watson said, he abandoned it. Katherine Kruse Watson is now at Salem, Or.

At this point of the interview Watson was asked by Mr. Woolwine: "Haven't all this now served to refresh your mind as to the dead women you did away with to tell the names of?"

"The name of one of them has flashed in my mind," Watson replied. "It is Marie Austin."

Watson married Marie Austin at Calgary, Can. She is one of the "wives" he has hitherto failed to mention. At Coeur d'Alene Lake he struck her on the head with a large rock and drowned her.

"Now you have only one left," said Mr. Woolwine.

"And I will split it out," he replied.

Watson said he could not remember the name, but if given all his papers, he could go through his list of wives and probably find it.

"If I don't remember it before I go to San Quentin," he said, "I will take thirty days to get it. I will take the directory and try to go down the A's, go down the B's, and find it."

In closing his long interview with Dist. Atty. Woolwine, and Deputy Sheriff Courts and Bell, Watson pleaded once more for fair treatment.

"In trying to solve my own problems and trying to work up in myself a feeling of remorse," he said, "I have sat down and tried to think of the ones I made away with. Maybe one day it will be this number, or another one, and I study, and to save me, I couldn't place it."

"If anything comes up, Mr. Woolwine, I am going to beg of you in the name of fairness to not be too harsh, because I have tried to bare with you some things I didn't want to tell, and after thinking this over, if you can keep this all just check up for yourself. You see, now for instance, just take that and complete the other. If you can do this I will remember you with extra kindness the longest day I live."

The Remore—one of our new narrow shapes.

A man said to us:

"I want Florsheim Shoes. I know what they are. I have worn them so long and had so much satisfaction that I can't see the sense in taking a chance on something I don't know, just to save a couple of dollars. I call that false economy—it doesn't pay in the long run. That's why I come here for Florsheim Shoes, and pay what they are worth. I get all that I pay for, every time."

"Settling" Your Estate

Did you ever trace in your thoughts the process of "settling" your estate after your demise?
—A thing as inevitable as the setting of today's sun.
—The disposition of your business interests, doubtless not quite "ready" for such an event;
—Or else arranging for their continued management by a successor to yourself, perhaps not as capable or as versed in the business as you;
—The taking over of your personal investments and their competent care;
—The transferring of your unfinished plans to those who do not understand your purposes.
Many an estate suffers, and even becomes a liability to heirs by conditions which the death of its creator precipitates.
Therefore: It is well for a man in middle life to create out of his property the kind of an estate contemplated in the "Bank of Italy Trust Plan"—a perfect family protection, and, if he desires, disaster insurance for his business, too. Ask for booklet, the "Bank of Italy Trust Plan."

THOMAS HUGHES SEEKS DIVORCE

Wealthy Maker of Governors Charges Desertion.

Suit Aftermath of Fight by Wife for Much Money.

Story of Ardent Wooing and Cash Pact Involved.

Devoid of sensational features, the divorce suit filed by Thomas Hughes, wealthy retired business man and maker of governors, against Gertrude Ozum Hughes yesterday, charges merely desertion. The complaint states they were married Dec. 24, 1918, and separated April 15, 1919. Mr. Hughes is represented by Attorney Joe Crail and Frank Rouse.

This action is an aftermath of a sensational suit filed against Mr. Hughes by Mrs. Hughes some time ago, in which she charged that he had failed to carry out a prenuptial agreement to give her property valued at $500,000. Mrs. Hughes declared that he had proposed to her at least fifty times, finally inducing her to marry him by saying he was ill, summoning her to Santa Barbara, and having all arrangements made in advance for the wedding.

Mr. Hughes denied that he had been an ardent proposer or that he had agreed to give her the property. He was asked by the court if the case is now on appeal to a higher court.

Mrs. Hughes also figured in two suits growing out of a plan to open a fashionable curio shop. In one suit, judgment was given against her. In the other suit, Edwin H. Fricke demands $4310 damages from her. Mr. Fricke states he owned the valuable paintings and that Mrs. Hughes, who had them in her possession, disposed of them last December 4.

FILMS IN CHURCHES.
CONVENTION SUBJECT.

USE OF CHILDREN AS ACTORS OPPOSED BY DIRECTOR OF THEIR WELFARE.

The relation of motion pictures to the work of the churches and their effect upon the minds of children were the principal subjects discussed yesterday at the thirty-fourth annual convention of Congregational Churches of Southern California held in the First Congregational Church here. Hearty approval of the film in the field was expressed and the conference opened with an address of welcome by U. S. District Judge Bledsoe. Prof. E. J. Lickley of the Los Angeles schools and Rev. P. H. Schrock of Santa Ana spoke on "Movies and the Youth" and "Movies in the Church." It was stated that ten Congregational churches in the south have motion-picture machinery. Prof. Lickley said that in spite of the fact that he has issued more than 5000 permits to children to perform in the production of films, he is convinced that children should not be used as actors or near actors. He stated that as an educational medium there is nothing superior to the motion-picture film.

Last evening Miss Sarah E. Bundy conducted a young people's hour, followed by a supper in the church. This morning will be devoted to a business discussion with Moderator Schweitzer in charge. A report of the churches in the conference will be read by Rev. George F. Kennett and the financial report by Fred H. Wilcox. This afternoon Rev. Hugh Gibson will lead the discussion of ways and means for the conduct of the Sunday-schools of the conference. The Interchurch World Movement will be discussed by Rev. Henry K. Booth of Long Beach. In the evening dinner will be served in the church parlors and Rev. Graham Taylor of Chicago will deliver the conference address.

At the third day's session tomorrow morning officers for the coming year will be elected. Rev. Henry H. Mowbray of San Bernardino and President James A. Blaisdell of Pomona College will speak on the amusement question.

A jury in Judge McCormick's court yesterday returned a verdict of $5000 in the suit of Vester H. McDermid against the Pacific Electric, for injuries he received when a trolley car struck a truck and threw him from the front platform of the car. He was represented by Attorney R. A. Dunnigan.

DAYLIGHT WAR AT CITY HALL

Five Hundred Ask to go to Work at Seven O'clock;
One Hundred Refuse.

Boy, page Marshal Poch of Gen. Pershing! There's a war on at the City Hall and a fine opportunity for some belated and expert generals to do some plain and fancy generalizing. Five hundred city employees yesterday petitioned the City Council to do some local daylight saving this summer, by starting the legal city day at 7 a.m. and sending the municipal workers home at 4 p.m. Council Clerk Carroll, read the petition and it went to the Public Welfare Committee. The news of the action of the would-be-daylight-savers buzzed about the City Hall and just before closing time last evening, a rival petition, bearing 100 names as a starter, was filed by indignant ones, who hope and pray and ask that the City Council shall not order them to work at 7 a.m., as requested in petition No. 1.

The signers of petition No. 2, say that if the signers of petition No. 1 want to work in their home gardens this summer, they can do so before they come to work at 8 a.m. So there!

END COMES TO WIDELY KNOWN BANKER A MONTH AFTER FATHER'S DEATH.

L. W. Hellman, Jr., prominent banker of this city and San Francisco, died, after a long illness, yesterday, after a long illness. He passed away without knowing of the death a month ago of his father, Leasus W. Hellman, banker of nation-wide repute, whose collapse and demise were brought about in large part by the fatal illness of the son.

L. W. Hellman, Jr., was noted for his wide-spread charities, organizations of the Jewish faith being the chief beneficiaries. He was president of the Union Trust Company and the Wells-Fargo National Bank of San Francisco, two dominant financial institutions in that city, and vice-president of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of this city. At the time of his father's death, he was one of the directors of the Panama-Pacific Exposition. He was elected to the presidency of the Wells-Fargo Bank on his deathbed, succeeding his father.

Born in Los Angeles March 29, 1871, Mr. Hellman was educated in the schools of this city, and graduated from the University of California in 1892. Immediately thereafter he entered the Nevada Bank in San Francisco as a clerk. In 1898, he removed to this city and entered the Farmers and Merchants National Bank. Returning to San Francisco in 1904, he became manager of the Union Trust Company. In 1908 he married Frances Jacobson of New York. He leaves the widow, four children and two sisters, Clara Hellman and Mrs. Frances Hellman Ehrman.

Y. H. Russell, vice-president of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank, and Marco H. Hellman, director of the Union Trust Company, will leave today for San Francisco to attend the funeral. Legally, the banks cannot close on account of the death.

NAME BARS CHARITY.

Scripture Home Wants Change to Aid Money Campaign

The William A. Scripture Home for Aged People petitioned the court yesterday to change the name to the Pasadena Home for the Aged. The reason advanced is that in the campaign to raise funds to increase the facilities and the income for the maintenance of the home, people are reluctant to contribute because the name of the corporation implies that it was founded as a memorial for William A. Scripture and for the purpose of perpetuating his name. Under the new name, it is said, many people will contribute to the fund.

INDICTMENT OF STRIKERS VALID.

Lever Law Upheld; Demurrer of Switchmen Overruled.

Means Twenty-nine will be Tried for Conspiracy.

Arguments Turn on Force of Thirteenth Amendment.

The twenty-nine striking Southern Pacific, Santa Fe and Salt Lake switchmen who were indicted, recently by the Federal grand jury for violation of the Lever law, in having conspired to impede the transportation of necessities of life, will have to stand trial on that indictment.

Yesterday U. S. District Judge Bledsoe, following in the line indicated by the United States Circuit Court of appeal in the Hulett C. Merritt case, held that the Lever law is constitutional. The demurrer in the case, which attacked the indictment only on the ground of constitutionality, was overruled.

It was agreed that the trial shall begin June 1.

R. W. Canaga, J. A. Crum and Edward Malone, Southern Pacific switchmen who struck at Barstow and were secretly indicted following the omnibus charge made here, appeared in court and pleaded not guilty. It was understood that they will make their defense with the other defendants and that the cases will all be amalgamated, with but one hearing.

In the argument on the demurrer to the indictment, Judge Bledsoe, appearing for the strikers, hung his argument on the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution, that forbids slavery and involuntary servitude. He quoted a United States Supreme Court decision to the effect that labor is to be free and prohibiting its control. Compulsion of service is not recognized in the law, he said. If it was not unlawful for the strikers to quit, it was not unlawful to agree to quit. There was nothing wrong in the acts of the men unless it was unlawful to ask men to quit their employment, he said. There is no charge that the men violated a contract. Mr. Bledsoe argued, but it cannot be said that they must remain at work whether they like conditions or not.

Dep. U. S. Dist. Atty. Palmer, who represented the government, said the Thirteenth Amendment to the Constitution might have been all right in times of peace, but that the Lever law is purely a war measure. He read the amendment to the law that makes it a felony for anyone to impede or interfere with the transportation of foodstuffs and declared that if the Thirteenth Amendment were good law in war times it would have prevented the enactment of the selective service law. The war power of the government is complete and undivided, he argued.

Congress has the power to defend the country after the fighting has ceased, he said. Men have the right to strike under certain circumstances, but the soldiers are not to be treated as strikers. Just so, he asserted, the defendants had no right to leave their employment and leave the people in danger of starvation. There was no right to collect thousands of dollars in back pay that had been awarded them by that tribunal.

AERIAL FOREST FIRE PATROL IS STARTED.

THREE RESERVES NOW BEING WATCHED BY AIR SCOUTS FROM MARCH FIELD.

The daily airplane forest fire patrol service from March Field, Riverside, to Santa Barbara and San Diego, began yesterday and will be carried on during the fire season, covering the Santa Barbara National Forest, Cleveland National Forest and the Angeles National Reserve. Col. B. K. Count, in command of March Field, is in charge of the daily trips. The flyers are forest rangers who recently completed a course in aerial aviation schooling at March Field.

The trips are not being inaugurated until soon. Supervisor Alvin Smith, who has been receiving information of several fires that for a time threatened the destruction of considerable timber and watershed. The summer fire patrol consisting of the regular forest rangers is now at work. With the airplane lookouts it is believed that a better watch will be kept on the big woods than ever before.

Radio stations have been installed at Santa Barbara and March Field, flash the news of fires to the limits of the territory covered by the patrol.

DOG HER DEFENDER.

Woman Says Collie Stopped Beating by Her Husband.

How a collie dog came to the rescue of Mrs. Edna D. Sprout while, as she says, her husband, Edward S. Sprout, was beating her, is told in her complaint for separate maintenance, filed yesterday.

They were married in New York Nov. 1, 1909, and separated April 29, 1920. The complaint states that she criticized him for not making his wife fairly and also for tearing up a dead he had made to her. She says he replied:

"Now if you don't look out, I will show you how I can treat a woman."

He flew into a rage, it is asserted, and charged her with extravagance. It was during the struggle with Mrs. Sprout, who resided on Fort avenue, Pasadena, that the collie dog interfered, grabbing Mr. Sprout and putting him. He kicked the dog. Mrs. Sprout says she ran from the house and sought shelter with a neighbor.

The court is asked to restrain Mr. Sprout from disposing of his property pending the hearing of the suit.
